

Ronald Noble

Ronald Noble

Former head of INTERPOL Ronald Noble asks the Dallas Police Department and the City of Dallas to remove a web-based Digital Wanted Poster that is constantly falsely brand Mark Hughes since the suspected killer of 5 cops in Dallas on 7 July 2016. On this video, Noble further asks the Dallas PD begin to undo the damage caused Mark Hughes and the family by utilizing precisely the same social media marketing to his name who's employed to wrongly accuse him to be a suspected cop killer to begin with.

RKN Global

Using social media marketing to get the public's help identify a person of great interest or suspect considered to be for this cold-blooded murder of law enforcement officers is understandable and will also be considered good police work after a crisis when both the police and public are in danger as was the case around the 7th and 8th of July 2016. Thanks to the initiative of Cory Hughes, Mark's elder brother, Mark was identified to the police as well as the world in a few minutes in the Dallas Police Department's Tweet of Mark's photo requesting the public to help you know the man photographed with a rifle slung over his shoulder and wearing a camouflaged shirt. Now, more than one month has passed since that crisis ended along with the Dallas Police Department determined that Mark Hughes had not even attempt to apply the sniper attack on police. He was simply a peaceful protester exercising his 2d Amendment to bear arms. Yet, the City of Dallas and also the Dallas Police Department carry on and place Mark Hughes, Cory Hughes in addition to their families at risk by continuing to broadcast a Twitter feed of an videotaped press conference of the Mayor of Dallas and the Dallas Chief of Police, during which Mark Hughes' photo is prominently displayed and termed as a suspected cop killer who will be taken to justice.

This is really a Digital Wanted Poster for Mark Hughes, that is viewed greater than 308,965 times and remains readily available for viewing even now.

While becoming Secretary General of INTERPOL and Head of several US law enforcement officials agencies, Mr. Noble led brave and dedicated law enforcement officers within the U.S. and round the world. In his official capacity, he's got mourned the loss of law enforcement officers under his command due to murders as well as a terrorist attack. He believes from the U.S. Constitution and it is Second Amendment to bear arms, which Mark Hughes exercised lawfully on July 7th. Mr. Noble can be a proud defender of police and (the rule of law) and strongly believes which a healthy, fair and just police department should not allow false accusations made by it against a harmless person to remain uncorrected and visual on its media channels as is happening in the matter of Mark Hughes. It will carry out the right thing and #JustClearHisName.

Ronald Noble could be the founder and 100% shareholder of RKN Global.

Between 2000-2014, Mr. Noble was elected 3 x for everyone as INTERPOL Secretary General, and have become the very first official to visit all its 190 states. He transformed INTERPOL right into a global, 24/7 enterprise--regularly deploying Incident Response Teams (IRTs) worldwide to confront serious crimes, terrorist attacks, and earthquakes.